COTSWOLD HOMES & INTERIORS FESTIVAL

SATURDAY 29TH MARCH 2025

The Cotswold Homes and Interiors Festival is designed to showcase the many wonderful and diverse homes and interiors businesses there are in Cirencester and the wider Cotswolds.

There will be trade stands in the Corn Hall and Market Place, selling a wide range of products from soft furnishings to ornaments and art.

A series of free entry talks with Q+A opportunities will also be taking place in the mezzanine area of the Corn Hall. Details can be found in this leaflet. Tickets for these talks are available from www.cotswoldhomefest.co.uk

The festival's main hub is the Corn Hall but other activities will be taking place around the town centre in participating businesses.

TALKS AND DEMONSTRATIONS AT THE CORN HALL

A brief history of 30-32 Dollar St and its recent restoration

TIME: 10am | SPEAKER: Charles Mullineux

One of Cirencester's most important historic buildings, the former St James's Place offices, has been rescued from severe decay and dilapidation and meticulously restored to its former glory. Architect for the restoration project, Charles Mullineux, will talk about the process behind the renovation, returning the building back into its original purpose, residential properties. With many significant original architectural features, Charles will explain the importance of carefully restoring key elements of such an historic building to preserve history and protect it for future generations.
